Breaches of health and other personal information continue to make headlines, and the regulatory agencies reportedly are preparing to conduct HIPAA audits. Employers continue to consider how best to use emerging technology, and how to limit their security risks. This webinar will help you double-check your company’s privacy and security procedures. Topics include:

- A refresher on HIPAA privacy and security requirements
- Identifying and managing the risks involved in using social media
- Best practices for monitoring employee devices, email, and location
- Managing vendors that maintain your data
- How to avoid and manage data breaches
- The role of the Federal Trade Commission
